1. The sawmill pier number 23 is on the east side of Brevenikoeysen just above the mouth of the river Povrakulka as it empties into Dvina. The pier is about 300 feet long and in good condition. A ship lying there showed a draft of about 22 feet and later source observed a ship of about 9,000 tons at the same place. There are large shacks on the pier where lumber is stored. A ferry at the sawmill carries passengers across the river.
2. Sawmill pier number 10 is located on the south western tip of Kogo and joins the pier where sawmill number 9 is located. These two piers have a combined length of about 400 meters, are of wood and in fairly good condition. A ship showing a draft of 19½ feet was laying here and soundings taken at the pier showed a depth of 20 feet. In order to pass the bar at Nikolski, a ship's draft cannot be more than 19½ feet.
